DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to amendment filed on 5/12/08 in which claims 31-48 are pending.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 31-48 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 31-35, 37-41, 43-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,763362 to McKeeth.

- a. As per claims 31, 37 and 43, McKeeth teaches a system comprising: one or more processors (See col. 4, lines 26-60); and memory storing program instructions; wherein the program instructions are executable by the one or more processors to: store a replica of a data object (See col. 5, lines 60-67); store history information indicative of previous accesses to the replica of the data object (See col. 7, lines 35-63); and in response to receiving a write request to update the replica of the data object, select one or more operations to perform on the replica of the data object based on the history information, wherein the one or more operations selected based on the history information include one or more of: updating the replica of the data object; and marking the replica of the data object as stale (See col. 3, lines 3-35).

b. As per claims 32, 39 and 44, McKeeth teaches the claimed invention as described above. Furthermore, McKeeth teaches wherein selecting the one or more operations based on the history information comprises: analyzing the history information to determine a number of accesses to the replica of the data object received within a first time period; and selecting to update the replica of the data object in response to determining that the number of accesses received within the first time period is greater than or equal to a threshold value (See col. 3, lines 3-35).

c. As per claims 33 and 45, McKeeth teaches the claimed invention as described above. Furthermore, McKeeth teaches wherein selecting the one or more operations based on the history information comprises: analyzing the history information to determine a number of accesses to the replica of the data object received within a first time period (See col. 8, lines 29-41); and selecting to mark the replica of the data object as stale in response to determining that the number of accesses received within the first time period is less than a threshold value (See col. 2, lines 59-65).

d. As per claims 34, 40 and 46, McKeeth teaches the claimed invention as described above. Furthermore, McKeeth teaches wherein the replica of the data object includes a plurality of portions of data; wherein the write request to update the replica of the data object comprises a write request to update a first portion of the plurality of portions of data; wherein said updating the replica of the data object comprises updating the first portion of the plurality of portions of data; wherein said marking the replica of the data object as stale comprises marking the first portion of the plurality of portions of data as stale (See col. 6, lines 19-33)..

e. As per claims 35, 41 and 47, McKeeth teaches the claimed invention as described above. Furthermore, McKeeth teaches wherein selecting the one or more operations based on the history information comprises: analyzing the history information to determine a number of accesses to the first portion of the plurality of portions of data received within a first time period (See col. 8, lines 14-41); selecting to update the first portion of the plurality of portions of data if the number of accesses received within the first time period is greater than or equal to a threshold value; selecting to mark the first portion of the plurality of portions of data as stale if the number of accesses received within the first time period is less than the threshold value (See col. 3, lines 3-6).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 36, 42 and 48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 6,763,362 to McKeeth in view of U.S. Patent No. 2002/0087797 to Adrangi.

a. As per claims 36, 42 and 48, McKeeth fails to teach wherein the replica of the data object comprises a replica of a file.

Adrangi teaches wherein the data object comprises a replica of a file (See paragraph [0044]).

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the teaching of Adrangi in the claimed invention of McKeeth in order to cache popular network content (See paragraph [0008]).

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
